

Overview

There are several new issues and requirements surrounding the current Presidential Administration which will involve performance teams across the Federal Government.

Reform Plan and Workforce Reduction

Agencies took a holistic look at their mission, budget, structure, and human capital resources to identify opportunities to improve efficiency. The April 12, 2017 Office of Management and Budget memo, “Comprehensive Plan for Reforming the Federal Government and Reducing the Federal Civilian Workforce,” asked agencies to provide final plans for maximizing employee performance, reform, and the strategic plan in September 2017.

Agency Strategic Plans

Agencies developed four year strategic plans aligned to the priorities of the new Administration and agency leadership. An extensive draft of the plan was due in September 2017 with the FY2019 budget.

President’s Management Agenda (PMA)

The Presidential Administration is developing a management agenda that identifies its key management reform priorities and initiatives. A basic framework for the current Administration’s management agenda was laid out in the March 13, 2017 Budget Blueprint and will be developed over the course of 2017, publishing with the FY2019 budget in February 2018.

Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) Implementation

To encourage agencies to define and assess risk at the enterprise- and agency-level, OMB released guidance in 2016 (via circular A-123) that defined a series of new requirements around agency risk management. The guidance requires that Performance Improvement Officers be involved in the risk management process and recommends that the Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) process aligns with other requirements in the Government Performance and Results Modernization Act of 2010 (GPRAMA), passed to build on a framework began by the 1993 Government Performance and Results Act.

Human Capital/Performance Management Integration

To better align how an agency’s goals and objectives are to be achieved with its human capital resources, agencies are newly required to integrate human capital reporting with GPRAMA reporting requirements. OPM rule 5CFR Part 250, released in December 2016, establishes a Human Capital Framework with the intention for full alignment to occur.
